IN OUR SCHOOLS

Westmore News

Lincoln School

First Grade Miss Bull's Room
We have had perfect attendance since Spring vacation. We are very proud of the new midjet piano in our room. The first day we had it, one of the boys said about the keys "They look like a hundred shining teeth. I wish I could have a hundred and night."

First Grade Miss Krist's Room
We are glad to have back with us again, Marian Finlayson, Gordon Grader, Hwin and Claude Hawkins, and Marie Johnson. They were out of school for several weeks because of illness. We have started an "Evening Library". We take out supplementary primers and readers after school and return them in the morning. We also read during spare time in school. For every book we have read out of the regular class work, we get a colored card. Each slip is pasted on a chart, which has our name on it. This chart is our score-keeper. We are trying to see who will have the most slips at the end of the term.

Second & Third Grades Ethel Phelps
We are learning about birds this month. Emily Rose Baker brought some bird pictures and books about birds. The Third Grade are going to make bird books. The Second Grade made some cut jumping jacks just before vacation and are now making some grand father clocks. They are learning to sew time. One of the Second Grade girls reported a case of "gypping" in school.

Third Grade, E. DeBoer
The arithmetic tournament becomes more exciting each day. In this week's race the Red Sox have the lead. Jean Hollinger is the Captain of the Red Sox. Her team mates are Margaret Burling, Ruth Scott, Robert Heard, Edith Rawson and Alice Elre. On Friday of this week new Captains will be chosen for the six teams. In that way everyone will have a chance to be Captain. The person who has scored highest for his team for two weeks is usually given this job.

Fourth Grade, Eunice Shels
A chess game was played a new reader "Across Seven Seas to Seven Continents". This was coordinated with the chess game.

Fifth Grade, Miss Munson
The Fifth Grade enjoyed a "Caper Down" in Arithmetic on March 29th. The object was to see which people could stay at the board the longest. The children were allowed to remain there as long as they could solve the examples correctly. The work included addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of fractions. Section 3 Harry Lever remained there during the entire period of forty minutes. Marie Anderson was close second. In section 4 Charles Haucok and Carl Malson tied. Next Friday the Sections are to be divided into two sides with the boys on the left and the girls on the right. We are wondering whether the boys or girls will be the winners.

Sixth Grade
Prizes for the best Abraham Lincoln booklets in the Sixth grade were awarded to First, Jean Curtis. Second, Marie Nicholas. Third, Third, Marie Nicholas. Honorable mention was given to June Nargan and Olga Miller. These booklets contain a story of Lincoln's life, a description of him and a dramatization of some anecdote or adventure connected with him. The covers for the booklets were letters in the drawing class.

Seventh Grade
The Seventh Grade has a fine new map of the Revolutionary War which they appreciate. They find it of great value in the study of this war. The boys and girls have printed names on calendars. Miss Connel has been pleased, for there were many good ones, which she has put in the auditorium.

Eighth Grade
The Eighth Grade Arithmetic class is going to leave Algebra for the present, but will probably return to it later in the year. In English we have an interesting lesson, writing a paragraph on an incident which happened during vacation. In Geography we are making posters and maps on Africa, also a globe look at the form of the continents showing life in a city or country in Africa.

Hammerschmidt School
First Grade
Raymond Grant has returned to school after having the chicken-pox. Jack Chalton has returned to school after having the chicken-pox. We have a new first grade pupil, Mrs. E. J. Johnson, reporter.

Second Grade
We are very happy that Madeline Charlton has the chicken-pox. Third and Fourth Grades
Mrs. Child had been out of school this week on account of illness. Mrs. Graves is taking her place. "Mary Bernard" is a new pupil in the grade. Mary comes from Chicago. Evelyn Charlton has been absent all week. The epidemic of chicken-pox struck the Charlton family. The children in both grades are working hard to become good enough writers to have ink.

Fifth and Sixth Grades
Robert Corbett has missed only one day in spelling since school started. Honor Roll for March
Robert Corbett 33
Ernest Jones 34
Elizabeth Harta 35
Roy Koppell 36
Lillie Drouin 37
Catherine Latherope 38
Helen Keltner 39
The Sixth grade are making shields and are busy thinking up new designs. Baseball season is on and our diamond has many a game held on it. The pommer clubs have two tables out in the hall. One belongs to the girls and the other to the boys. Our projects are placed there after they have been marked O. K. by the leaders. Miss Lowrey leads the girls and Mr. Moore the boys. Several stamp collections appeared on the tables. The clubs are coming on fine and each has quite a few members. The girls have 15 members.

"Civil Service" Drew Large Crowds

"Civil Service", the three act American drama given by the Lialo Lodge Circle of the Methodist Community Center, Thursday, Wednesday and Friday nights of last week was rich in emotion. The scene was carried rapidly from scenes to scenes, from admiration to laughter, and the lump in your throat and weeping tears were quickly dispelled by some smart provoking incident. There was life in every character and soul refreshment in every act.

The scene was laid in a post office in a small town in the Middle West. The plot had to do with an old K. F. mail carrier with a past, whose son was the money order clerk, but they knew nothing of each other. To pay for expensive jewelry for the postmaster's flirtatious daughter, the money order clerk stole $100 from a letter mailed by the aristocratic Mrs. Liddell. The Inspector George Hall, visited upon the head of the son, Old K. F. D had committed a similar theft when the boy was 4 and was sent to prison for the same crime. When the father learned who and what his son was, he was horrified and pleaded guilty but the "little prince" came to the rescue and by paying back the $100.00 she saved the man she loved and her mother. Old K. F. D. Each of the cast was a type and particularly suited to the part. Old K. F. D. The Inspector George Hall looked ancient, slow covered cap and coat, his high over shoes, long gray hair and beard, was old fashioned but he was always the humble servant. He hid one with compassion.

Clerk (Mary Bloomquist) enacts a role of varied emotions, sympathy for old K. F. D., was suited her own sustenance, love for Steve, heart broken when he cheated his love for Octavia, almost resignation of self to marry the inspector to save her lover, sacrificed her savings to buy freedom for them both.

Marie Nichols, a hired girl, (Ethel Anderson) made the biggest hit in the show. She was good with a capital C. She was dressed in red and green and yellow. Her dramatic way of lowering her head and her broad smile caused the best amusement of the evening. She and her character brought tears of laughter with their basket of lunch. She was a scrapper and put on plenty of "war". The piano solos by Mr. Song were well received and the vocal numbers by Mrs. E. B. Parker were much appreciated. Avee Rosemary Cable sang her Mother Goose songs in a big yet very sweet voice.

Much credit for the success of the play in due to Mrs. Bloomquist who is the leader of the Lialo Lodge Circle. She was ably assisted in directing the play by A. A. Thompson. Both have appeared in amateur theatricals before.

The Circle feels deeply indebted to those who look part and appreciate the generous support of the public.

New Note in Older Boys Conference

The older boys conference last Saturday in Wheaton, held under the auspices of the Dulmage Council of Religious Education and the County Y.M.C.A. touched new peaks in achievement in judging from reports made by the secretaries of the various discussion groups.

This conference had as its purpose four objects: the bringing together of High School Students of the County who have a common interest in their "quest for the best"; to provide facilities for discussion to discover the problems that students face; To provide men of broad and rich experience who would give information and suggest ways in which delegates might make the most of the conference in their own lives.

Some of the questions which came out of the discussion groups were such problems as: What should guide a student in selecting a college when he through to college? What should a student do if he is not going to college? What should a student do if he is not going to college?

What should a student do if he is not going to college? What should a student do if he is not going to college? What should a student do if he is not going to college?

Week-End Collisions

Hundreds of automobiles pass through Lombard these beautiful spring days, their owners dropping cares for a few hours and seeking the pleasures of the highway. Extreme caution must be used by drivers particularly on the week-end jaunts. Human nature at its most irresponsible point is apt to be manifested after a automobile collision.

The two drivers, if the collision was serious, are suffering from nervous shock, and will say things they would not say under ordinary conditions. Some people have the naivete to admit they were wrong, but the ordinary thing is for each driver to maintain that he was wholly right, and not to blame in any way.

The truth usually is that both parties were somewhat to blame, though one of them may have been primarily at fault. In these things happen so quickly that it is almost impossible to assess the responsibility with strict accuracy. But in either one of the two drivers had been following a policy of special caution, nothing would probably have happened.

Careful people often remark that they have concluded that if a driver will give up in any doubtful case about 75 per cent of the road, and allow drivers to have the right of way if they show the least disposition to claim it, there is little danger of accident.

It is annoying for people thus to have to yield a position in the road that they feel belongs to them fairly, and they are irritated by the arrogant and grasping spirit shown by some drivers, but it is better for people to hold their own feelings in check, and overlook such exhibitions of bad manners, and keep out of trouble even if they have to wait a few seconds to let some reckless driver get out of the way. This course will save mishaps for the drivers at Lombard, for if we always claim every right of way that we think belongs to us, we take chances of accident.

Annual Friday Scrap Friday, May 10th

Preparations are under way for the annual Friday Scrap, the contest between the Athenian and Erodian societies, which will take place on the night of Friday, May 10th. This year's Friday Scrap has been an annual event for the last thirteen years. The winner is decided by the following points: one for the highest program grade average; one for setting the most tickets for the scrap; and one for winning the majority of the course debates held during the year. These points are won before the night of the Friday Scrap. On that night there are four oral and two written debates. The winner of the debate, the orator, the dramatist, the orator, and the orator.

The winner of the course, states that numerous readings may be substituted for oration this year.

The debating teams are already at work, and as usual, the play is over, Mrs. Allen intends to start coaching the other contestants.

Fred L. Breiter, principal of the high school, will meet the parents of eighth grade pupils who plan to enter the contest next week.

The first of these meetings will include parents of pupils of Duane, Francis, Wagner, Bonaparte, and St. Petrus schools. It will take place in the high school on Monday evening, April 22, at 8 P. M.

They on Tuesday evening, April 23, at 8 P. M. Mr. Breiter will meet and talk with the parents of the eighth grade pupils from Lombard Grammar school, Sacred Heart, and St. Ignace Lutheran schools, in the Lombard Grammar school building.

The purpose of these meetings is to interest the parents in the course which will be open to the morning class and to secure their cooperation with the principal and teachers so that the students will enjoy the best of advantages and benefits from their high school work.

The cooperation of the parents is necessary in view of the fact that the class will be composed of approximately two hundred fifty pupils. It is hoped the attendance will be good.

The one hundred per cent sections for the last two weeks were Mrs. Allen's and Miss Moleux's sections. Parents were magnificent. Mrs. Allen's section, Miss Moleux's section, and Miss Roberts' freshmen.

The three lowest sections on April 9 were Mr. Miller's freshmen with 55.5 per cent, Miss Romp's freshmen with 51.8 per cent, and Mrs. Wertz's sophomores with 51.2 per cent.

The percentage for the whole school, however, was seventy-six per cent compared to last week's eighty-six. This week the percentage went up to eighty-six. The three lowest sections were:

Legion Band Makes Debut

Under the direction of Carl Mader, former director of the 131st Infantry Band, A. E. F. the Lombard American Legion Band made its debut last Thursday evening April 17th in the Public School Hall before a crowd of appreciative town people and friends.

The band has been practicing diligently for the past six months and now has reached the place where it can give a performance well worth attending. There is no reason to be weary but what the men could give weekly concerts this summer for Lombard that would draw people from all the neighboring towns.

The concert Thursday evening was interesting from beginning to end. It did not lag and the music consisted of well known marches and overtures. There were watching these music and lead was snappy and well timed. The men, the effects were pleasing as was shown by the repeated calls for encores from the audience.

In order to give variety the program was divided into three parts, the first and last being taken by the band and the second by solos and feature dancing. The vocal solos by Miss Henrietta Krakack were well received, the audience hardly allowing her to leave the stage. Her sister, Miss Frances Krakack also entertained very artistically in several places.

Robotic dance sketches. Exceptionally clever with the white and red costumes dancing by Miss Dorothy James. The Mysterious Pianist who played for the correct solo by Howard H. Clark. Antinous certainly gave the people a big laugh until he started playing the piano and there was no denying he could do that to perfection. The correct solo by Mr. Antinous went over.

If the Legion gives another concert it will well be worth anyone's time to attend. Ask those who were present at this one. Following is the program.

The Harmony Club held their last dance on the usual Saturday night and enjoyed the enthusiasm of a large crowd. Every year seemed to have a wonderfully good time. Mr. Deaconmark added a special feature to the orchestra in an expert piano player who won the admiration of all present.

The committee named to sponsor the club for the coming year are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hollenbeck, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hartung of Villa Park and Mr. and Mrs. Parodis.

The Club has had a very successful year and it is hoped that the new committee will receive the same good support and hearty cooperation.

THE TOWN DOCTOR

(THE DOCTOR OF TOWNS)

SAYS

If ever there was a time when it behooved small cities and towns to prepare for a big opportunity, it is right now. Big men, big industry, big town people are looking to the smaller cities where they have never before.

You may call it trends of the times if you like, but whatever you call it, you are sure to find an opportunity for those who are wise enough to see it. It is the fact that the big men, big industry, big town people are looking to the smaller cities where they have never before.

In a recent issue of The American Magazine, Henry Ford said: "Is it evident for business to pay high land prices and high taxes in congested cities where the workers must pay exorbitant rents? By moving out, some men could get lower land prices, lower taxes and lower rents—and far better living conditions for all people."

A bulletin recently issued by the American Highway Educational Bureau says: "Dependable all-weather transportation has already begun to work wonders in the decentralization of manufacturing, with the result that more diversified forms of employment are being brought to the country. This development, after many changes in these war-torn days, has been gotten on so quietly and steadily as to pass almost unnoticed. It has come to be a condition which almost imperceptibly upon entering an unfamiliar town to ask, 'What do they make here?' It is no longer enough to say that it is an agricultural town or an educational center, for surely they must be making some product or another which the world is large uses." It is often said that the small cities are the backbone of the nation, that the drift of population from the cities to the smaller towns, but the facts are that this drift is keeping short of the major cities and has begun to build up the towns and villages that lie so close to and form such an integral part of the open country.

The reason to be hearted is that highway transportation is a going business and great benefits will come from further improvement. It will not be a matter of let down in every education program because our state systems are so well under way. There are the main arteries, which if widened and they will be, hold even greater possibilities as trade channels.

GET READY, you never know when a scout for a big man, or a big business will be among you. He may be in your town now. He will not come among you with a lot of trumpets, but he will be based on your individual character, or good fellowship of the few shining lights, but on your town as it is, not as you believe it to be, if you have ever thought about it at all.

Big men are not interested in Hickville or Hickvilles. They believe as they have a right to believe, that in automobile and good roads, radio, telephone and free mail delivery should have, by now, taken the Hick out of Hickville. If it takes it, it will, if such things have not availed in the minds of towns the possibilities in the new order of things, then some other town as toward they must investigate.

Send back a coin now at the picture of your community. Are you ready for big things?

Cheering Up The Sick First Church Activities

In visiting a sick person, remember that you are expected to leave the patient more cheerful and contented for your having been there. If you can't accompany the patient, stay away from the man and woman who can call upon a sick friend, who can stay just long enough to do the pleasant things and do the proper thing and leave both the patient and the patient's physician glad that they have been there, not congratulate themselves that they have mastered one of the most difficult and delicate tasks in the world of social amenities.

The cheerful charity call from someone whom the patient knows well and with whom he can feel completely at ease not only relieves the monotony of convalescence, but actually assists recovery in many instances.

It is entirely natural that friends should wish to do something to give such service as is needed before trying to perform it. Never take a sick person things to eat until you are entirely sure that what you take in on the approved diet list. Think of how disappointed you would be to receive a box of luscious chocolates only to have your physician tell you they were taboo.

If the invalid wishes to talk of his illness, one should listen patiently and with very obvious interest. But it is wise to get away from the subject as soon as it can be managed gracefully. The visitor who can most completely turn the sick person's attention away from himself is the one who will do him the most good. It is a very unwise visitor who insists upon talking of illnesses they or their friends may have experienced. It is equally poor judgment to suggest treatment for every symptom and a remedy for every pain which the invalid may have. The patient has confidence in his doctor and nurse and this confidence should not be destroyed by someone who knows very little about the case.

Visits and calls upon sick people should necessarily be brief. Long visits are wearisome to the patient and do more harm than good. When the caller starts to go, he should go. Long visits are wearisome to the patient and do more harm than good. When the caller starts to go, he should go.
